Catalina Island

Catalina Island is an idyllic island paradise located just off the coast of southern California. Its year-round warm weather, picturesque landscapes, outdoor activities and quaint towns make it a perfect retreat for families, adventurous couples, or solo travelers who want to escape the hustle and bustle of life on the "mainland." Situated 22 miles off the coast of Southern California, getting to Catalina is half the fun. The most common way to get to the island is by taking a ferry. Two passenger ferry companies – Catalina Express and Catalina Flyer – provide scheduled services to the island. Catalina Express operates boats to Avalon and Two Harbors daily from four mainland ports throughout the year: Long Beach, San Pedro, Dana Point and Newport Beach; Catalina Flyer operates boats to Avalon from Newport Beach seasonally.

Visitors can also arrive via helicopter or plane in about 15 minutes from the coast of Southern California. Helicopter services from IEX Helicopters are available, with departures from heliports in Long Beach and San Pedro. Helicopter charter service is also available from John Wayne Airport in Orange County, and Bob Hope Airport in Burbank. Helicopters land at the Pebbly Beach heliport located in Avalon. Private pilots can fly into the island's only airport, Catalina Island Airport in the Sky.
